Sponsorship Prospectus

Cutting Edge of Intraoperative
Spinal cord Monitoring.

Welcome Message from the President

It is our great honor and privilege to be able to invite to you as a sponsor to the 9th educational course of ISIN in Kyoto, Japan from November 25th to 27th, 2020. I, Takanori Saito from the Department of Orthopedic Surgery of Kansai Medical University, would like to cordially welcome you on behalf of the organizing committee.

The 2020 educational course of ISIN will be proudly held in conjunction of the commemorative 50th anniversary meeting organized by the Japanese Society of Clinical Neurophysiology (NOV. 26-28, 2020). The Society as a champion of intraoperative monitoring in Japan inaugurated its specialized committee 4 years ago and it accompanied many things. Now we have been preparing for the educational course of ISIN in order to welcome as many researchers as possible who are majoring in intraoperative neuromonitoring from all over the world - not only orthopedic surgeons but also neurosurgeons, anesthesiologists, otolaryngologists, and clinical laboratory technicians.

We firmly believe the course will provide the Sponsors great opportunities to promote their technologies and further to appeal their company presence in this field of research.

We would be pleased if you could have a look at this Sponsorship and Exhibition Prospectus and the list of benefits for Sponsors including Exhibiting Sponsors. We greatly appreciate your interest in supporting this congress and look forward to having you join us as one of our congress Sponsors in beautiful autumn Kyoto, 2020.
